PINCHBACK INTERVIEWED.

His Opinion on the Antagopism of Races -Caste-Carpet-Baggers-Reform -Bribery-Legislature, Etc.

WHAT HE THINKS OF WARMOTH

The Colored Creed.

WHO HE IS.

FITC.

The interview with Governor Warmoth tory purpose in affording the public closer insight into that individual's idea tatus, opinions and political troubles, it that the same service performed for his temporary successor would not prove un-palatable. Lieutenant Gov. Pinchback, whether through merit or accident, it atters little, apparently occupies the of this State. He may not enjoy their en tire confidence, but still, he is the "man in the breach" for a short time at least, nd it is well enough to know what he ninks about matters and things, even if no good come of it. Believing, therefore, that the Deputy lovernor ought to be turned inside or for public scrutiny, we, on Saturday last, solicited an interview, which he promptly corded, appointing yesterday at 12 m. as the hour. Duly prepared and coached, as in Warmoth's case, a reporter was ac-cordingly detailed for that duty, and the following is the result.

WHERE AND HOW HE LIVES

At 12 M. on Sunday the reporter ran he bell of a very nice two-story house or Derbigny street, adjacent to Canal, and red for Lieutenant Governor Pinch back. After a short delay, he was ushere into a neatly, but not gaudily, furnished parlor, and was informed that the "Goy gror" would attend him in a few min

nity to glance around the room, which was found highly respectable, if not elegant in all its appointments. A fine brussel carpet covered the floor, and it was fur hed with a plain black hair cloth set of graiture. The windows were draped with handsome curtains. An upright piano on one side gave evidence of musical ner and goblets on a salver, gave vidence of the occupant's popularity in the shape of a testimonial from somebody The walls were hung with numerous pic ares, evidently selected with both taste and discrimination. Among them a large engraving of Napoleon caressing the young King of Rome, andother large picture, called "The Prison Window," a rather in lifferent oil painting of a Falconer, hung on the pier over a large "etagere," which as covered with a profusion of photographs, principally those of colored states In a rear room, divided by folding loors, was a library and sideboard. Just such a home, in fact, as might be coveted by any person in moderate circum

After some delay, during which a little girl peeped in the door, regarding the in-ruder with wonderment, if not suspicion, the Lieutenant Governor made his appearance, and anounced himself as ready for the interview, which opened as follows:

Reporter-As Acting Governor of Lonna, even for a brief period, the people naturally feel some carlosity respecting your views, and political attitude towards m, and I have been directed by the ditor of the Times to meet you for the purpose of proposing a few interrogatories

Pinchback-I have no special objection but would prefer deferring it for awhile. Reporter—In politics, as in everthing lse, you know there is no time like th resent, and the public curiosity is now

ully aroused to all political consider and am willing to give you all the infornation I can consistent with my pro political situation and duties. Reporter-Of course you are at liberty discriminate, and if that is the only obection I will open the budget. Pinchback-Very well, sir, proceed. Reporter-You seem to be recognize by your race in this State as its exponent and the inheritor of the mantel which fell from the shoulders of Lieut. Gov. Dunn? Pinchback-I have always had more intuence with my race in this State than Mr. Dunn. I have defeated him in every ontest where we ever came before the people, therefore I do not admit that his mantle has fallen on my shoulders. I tand on my own merits. Mr. Dunn was very popular among pertain circles, but my own greater exertions and achieve-ments in behalf of the colored people give ne a wider influence, and I think greater

HE HANGS ON TO GRANT

Reporter-In your opinion is there any tagonism in the interests of the white and colored inhabitants of Louisiana? Pinchback-I answer frankly that there that direction time alone can tell. The great cry about social equality has been paraded so much that I have grown ETC. shamed of it myself, and scarcely think it worth intelligent consideration.

Reporter—Then, do you not think is unwise and impolitic to use legisation to enforce such equality, which can only result in mutual acrimony and disaster? Pinchback-I know of no legislatio that has been made for that purpose There is a great difference between men's civil and public rights and what is generally understood by social equality. It is true we have the Civil Rights bill in our State, and demand the passage of Mr. umner's Supplemental Civil Rights bill, out not for the purpose of establishing social equality. We only desire that our people shall be treated the same as others for the same moneyed consideration both in traveling and being entertained in public places. Reporter—As an impartial statesman do you not think that time and opportunity should be given for the better education and enlightment of your race before they are entrusted with grave official resonsibilities ?

Pinchback-I am willing to admit that telligence is absolutely necessary for efficiency in office, but in this State, where our people constitute such a very large proportion of the voting population and are justly entitled to recognition in office it is impossible to discriminate agains The election of so many ignoran en to office is one of the unavoidable iences of the situation and on node of choosing officers in this country where people are in most cases "voted nstead of voting. Sooner or later, in m pinion, a qualified suffrage will be found Reporter-Is there not a conflict of in terest between the plantation negroes and the more aristocratic colored people; or in other words, between those who toil for their daily bread and those who aspire to official position and association?

Pinchback-I will answer that question in the Yankee style, by asking another: "Is there any conflict between the laboring white classes and the more aristocractic?'

Reporter-There is always a social jeal ousy, but I am not aware that it extends to polities. What I want to know whether the two classes of colored people are likely to differ in politics, or will they always act as a unit.

Pinchback-My opinion is, that the act as a unit politically until every vestige of caste is overcome.

Reporter—What are your ideas concern ing the future policy and future destiny of your race in this State? Pinchback-Everything hangs on that one point. The only difference between the black and white races is that of "caste. If this was removed, I am confident that there would be perfect unanimity betwee the Southern people, white and colored, because our people naturally love the Southern people, and feel a per tity of interest with them. This, I believe is destined to come sooner or later, an when it arrives the political strength the colored people as a race will be absorbed in whatever general division of politics may arise or exist among the Pinchback- That depends entirely upon now you understand this cry of Reform in Louisiana. We all want reform, white and colored; but does the cry of Reform now really mean Reform?

Reporter-I think it does, but please explain more clearly. Pinchback-I am afraid that many the men who are so loud-mouthed about Reform are actuated by merely selfish mo tives. It I understand it properly the Re-form movement by the whole people is men in office, and economical administ tion of government; but if Reform simply neans the overthrow of the Republic party, I am no Reformer.

Pinchhack-Ves I think there is roo for improvement in this direction. Reporter.-Should not the citizens

New Orleans be entrusted with the Pinchback-That is a question of mere olitical opinion, governed by circumtances. If the police is efficient and serves its purpose at the same expense, it makes little difference whether it is under con-

Reporter-Are you a friend and partis of Gen. Grant in the political contest. Pinchback-That is an important qu tion, requiring deliberation. I never like to shoot off my gun half cocked, and be fore committing myself to any man or any policy, I want to know exactly what it is. Reporter—Are you opposed to or sus-picious of Gen. Grant at present?

Southern man ever was or possibly can ness to see this State government go in be. While perfectly willing to reap all the hands of the Democracy, provided he benefits, they nervously dodge all responsibilities. They eagerly accept my hospitality, but rarely extend theirs, and only then in a sneaking, unmanly manner, intensely disgusting to a Southerner. Grant are at present most friendly, and Warmoth's influence with the Legislature extended to the length the public seems to imagine in controlling legislative ac-tion. In fact I don't think anybody on earth could control the House of Repreentatives.

Reporter-Do you not think that Governor Warmoth's influence was sufficiently strong with the last Legislature to have secured the passage of all the reform measures, if he had been sincere?

Pinchback-I honestly do not believe so Reporter-Were you aware, Governor, of any financial arrangements being made with Senator Lewis to secure your election? Pinchback-I am not positively aware of any such arrangements being made, but bribery and corruption has been indulged in to such an extent that I would not be surprised at anything. Reporter-In Warmoth's selection of yourself as successor of the late Lieutenant

Gov. Dunn, do you think Governor Warnoth was influenced by his fidelity and dmiration of your race, or by considions of his own personal advancement? Pinchback-That question I have alady answered in another relation

Reporter-Is it not to your knowledge that the Governor has lost confidence in the fealty of the colored people to him, and that he expects the inevitable conflict between the races? Pinchback-No. Gov. Warmoth, in my udgment, believes himself very popular with the colored people.

Reporter-Has not the Governor maniested some apprehensions of late that you would go over to the Reform party? Pinchback-Not to my knowledge. What Reporter-It is said that Warmoth's friendship and favor for you grew out of fear of bodily danger; that in other words ne sided in making you Lieutenant Governor to pacify the prejudices of the colored people against him. Is it so? Pinchback-That is not so. Gov. Warnoth was never in any danger from the colored people. Gov. Warmoth was probably actuated by the same motives as myself; namely, the interest of the Republican party. Reporter-In the session of 1871, you were the acknowledged leader of the opposition to Warmoth, and constantly solicited aid against him. What reasons had you for such a direct change of sentinent?

Pinchback-It grew out of political emplications in the Republican party, such as always occur in the history of parties. I deemed it necessary to sustain the Administration in order to preserve the integrity of my party, and acted accordingly. There were no considerations of a private or unworthy interest at stake if your question infers that. It was purely political result, dictated by my judg-

We desire to regard all men with becoming charity, and to attribute to the natural frailty of man many actions which spring from a false and corrupt heart. But what excuse can we find for a man like J. Henri Burch, who in announcing the death of Senator Ragan can only find in his heart the forgiving charity to say, "as God has laid His hand upon him, we take ours off?" The grave which should soften the asperities of political strife and inculcate the sublim virtue of forgiveness, can not touch Burch's callous heart. He regards Death as an ally who gives him an opportunity to attack a political adversary with impunity. This man, whose name has become a synonym second Tuesday in April the Na- and fasle in social life, can not forgive a dead foe, but with a superc lousness as base as it is cowardly, simply announces that as God has laid His hand on, he takes his off? HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper overy fortnight.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is published weekly.

Harper's Bazar contains, besides pic tures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family articles on health, dress, and housekeen ing in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has, besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the ournal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success: for emething of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. HIS POLITICAL CREED. · Reporter - What are your views on th subject of general amnesty?

Pinchback—I will answer that with to a white man, and the next day stole it from him and sold it to another white man. ing the old colored man happened to come upon them. When the man to whom the pig was first sold demanded of the old darkey if he had not sold it to him? He answered, "yes." The other man then asked. "Didn't you sell me this pig?" "Yes," answered the darkey. "Why, you old ruscal, what can you mean by selling this pig to both of us?" indignantly exclaimed both victims: The darkey, however, proved master of the situation. "Go way from here white folks," he retorted; "you just got to settle dat matter twixt yourselves, So it is with the amnesty question, the white people can settle it between them-

Pinchback-I never gave that subject any thought.

Reporter-And now I believe we are a the end of the chapter. Suppose we wind up this rather prolonged interview by your elling me something of your previous history. To put the question pointedly. Who are you? Where did you come from? and what have you been doing all your previous life?

Pinchback-I have no objection to answer. I was born in Georgia in 1837. I came here the same year with my parents on the way to my father's plantation in Holmes county, Miss. In 1846 I was sent to Cincinnati to school, and attended Gilmore's High School, on Harrison street, for about one year and a half. After I returned home my father died, and as our peculiar status prevented us from remain ing there, the family removed to Ohio About 1850 I returned to New Orleans where I have since resided off and on. My tion was a steamboatman, serving at one time as steward of the Homer. The last boat I was on was the Alonzo Childs in 1861. I left her at Yazoo City when she ran up the Yazoo to escape the Yankee first. In 1862 I ran the blockade into New Orleans, where I arrived May 12th. On May 16th I had a difficulty with my er-in-law, in which I wounded him severely and was arrested for assault with to kill. I was carried before Judge Bell and plead guilty on the advice of my ed me to two years in the work ise, and when it was announced I near ly fainted in court.
